THE TOWN OF EASTHAM, MASS.

Early in 1644, the Church of Plymouth sent a delegation of its members to examine more extensively than they had before, a section lying some 25 miles east of Plymouth, known at that time as Nanset, hoping to find a location better adapted for their needs and facilities for future expansion, and deeper harbor. Among those chosen were Thomas Prince, John Doane, Nicholas Snow, Josias Cook, Richard Higgins, John Smalley and Edward Bangs, with the Governor and many other members of the Plymouth Church. On examination they found it not, as they thought, capable of containing more than 25 families, and consequently not large enough to contain the whole church, much less to afford room for future increase. Therefore, it was decided that but a part only should remove in April of that year. Among those who removed to this new location was Thomas Prince, who was the distinguished leader of the settlement of this town. He was born in England and came over in the Fortune, which arrived in 1621; being then but 22 years of age. In 1624 he married Patience, daughter of Elder Brewster. He was chosen governor of the colony.

Hon. Nicholas Snow was another of its distinguished founders. He came over in the Ann, in 1623. In 1627 he married Constance Snow, a daughter of Stephen Hopkins, a distinguished member of the Mayflower passengers. She was a daughter by his first wife, and came over with her father and the rest of his family. They had eleven children; all but the last two or three were born in Plymouth. Richard Higgins, Josias Cook, John Smalley and others were prominent members of the settlement.

On June 2d, 1646, Nanset was granted to be a township, as other towns within the government had been. In 1651 the Colony Court ordered that the town of Nanset be changed and henceforth known by the name of Eastham.

John Smith was the first of that name to settle in this town. He married Elizabeth Eldridge. His sons were John, Jeremiah,

William, Beriah and Ebenezer. John Young came to this town before 1649. His sons were John, Joseph, Nathaniel, David, Robert and Henry.

The town was later subdivided into three different parts.

Ralph Smyth arrived from Hingham with his five children, Samuel, John, Daniel, Elizabeth and Thomas, in 1652-3. Deborah was born after he reached Eastham, March 8, 1654.

All the descendants of James3 Smith (Daniel,2 Ralph1), and Hannah4 Rogers (John,3 Lieut. Joseph,2 Thomas1), were descendants of Thomas Rogers and his son, Lieut. Joseph Rogers, two of the Mayflower passengers.

And all the descendants of their son, Solomon Smith and his wife Susanna (she the daughter of Benjamin Snow and Thankful Bawerman) and all the descendants of their son Levi Smith and Jane (Snow) Smith, and all the descendants of their son Joshua Smith and Mercy (Snow) Smith, and all the descendants of their son Benjamin Smith and Ruth (Snow) Smith, were descendants of Stephen Hopkins and his daughter Constance, who came over with her father on the Mayflower; and later married Hon. Nicholas Snow at Plymouth, Mass.; Stephen Hopkins being the 14th signer of the Compact, and Thomas Rogers the 18th signer. Jane Snow, Mercy Snow and Ruth Snow were daughters of Stephen Snow and Margaret Elkins of Eastham. Benjamin8 Snow and Stephen3 Snow were sons of Joseph2 Snow, Nicholas1 Snow.

Stephen Hopkins, Hon. Nicholas Snow and Lieut. Joseph Rogers did service in the Colonial Wars; and all their descendants are eligible to any society of Colonial Wars or Colonial Dames, in any State in the Union.

All the sons of Solomon Smith, Joshua Smith, Benjamin Smith and Phineas Smith, who were of sufficient age to bear arms, served in the War of the Revolution from Sandisfield, Mass. Their names and terms of service are found in the "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors, who served in the War of the Revolution." Published by the United States Government, and is found in almost any library.

All the descendants of such, are eligible to the Societies of the Sons or Daughters of the Revolution.

RALPH SMYTH OF HINGHAM AND EASTHAM

In New England Genealogical Register, Volume 46, page 424, appears a copy of the will of Roger Sadler, of Stratford on Avon, a baker, bearing date of May 14, 1578, in which he bequeaths to "my cousin" John Smyth's children £20, viz.: to Elizabeth Smyth, £6 13s. 4p. and to Elinor Smyth £6 13s. 4p., and to Ralph Smyth, his son, £6 13s. 4p.

So it would appear that John Smyth was the father of Ralph Smyth, who had a son named John Smyth after his grandfather.

What Cushing has to say about Ralph Smyth, (see New England Genealogical Register, Volume 26, Page 190):

The early settlers of Hingham, Massachusetts, were mostly from Hingham, County of Norfolk, England; and he mentions Ralph Smyth as coming from that place in 1633, and against his name he puts the figure "1"; clearly indicating that he came alone. His name first appears on the Hingham, Mass., Register in 1637, when he drew a "house lot" on Bachelor Street, now Maine Street (see New England Genealogical Register, Volume 2, Page 251). The Colony records him "Smyth," and as late as September 22, 1652, the Probate records of Suffolk County say "Smyth of Hingham." He was of Eastham, Plymouth Colony, in 1654. In 1657 he took the oath of fidelity (see Plymouth County Records, Liber 8, Folio 184). His name here and ever after is "Smyth."

He was constable in Eastham, 1660 to 1664. He was engaged in trading with Jesse Hobart of Hingham. Volume 6, Folio 175, Plymouth Colony Records, has the following court order: Oct. 27, 1685: Administration is granted by this court to Grace Smith, the relict of Ralph Smyth, and Samuel Smith, son of said Ralph Smyth, all of the town of Eastham, in the Colony of Plymouth, in New England, etc. Cushing says also: The record of the marriage of Ralph Smyth is not to be found, and the indications are that Grace was not the mother of his children.

Hobart in his diary of Hingham affairs gives notable information concerning this family.

Solomon Lincoln, Esq., in his address on the 200th anniversary of the settlement of Hingham, quotes this from Daniel Cushing's records of the early settlers of Hingham, from Norfolk Co., England:

In 1633 Edmond Hobart, Sr., came from Hingham, Eng., with his wife and son Joshua and daughters, Rebecca and Sarah, and servant, Henry Gibbs, and settled first in Charlestown. And later, Edmond Hobart, son Joshua and Henry Gibbs settled in Hingham. Ralph Smyth probably came over on the same ship with the Hobarts, and was from the same part of England, and possibly was acquainted before sailing to this country. The emigration of Ralph Smyth and Edmond Hobart is found in New England Register, Volume 15, Page 25.

Cushing could find no documentary evidence that "Thomas Smyth" was a son of Ralph Smyth; but thought he must have been. The New England Genealogical Register, Volume 26, Page 438, gives a copy of an ancient record which clearly proves that he was. The date of the "find" is 1872, and the date of record is 1690, when he took the oath of freeman of Barnstable. Mass. He married Rebecca Hobart, daughter of Edmond Hobart, who also came over at the same time, and from the same town in England with Ralph Smyth. He remained in Hingham until about, or a little later than 1650, when he with family removed to Eastham, Mass.; being one of the early settlers of Eastham, where many prominent people of Plymouth Colony had settled, on or about this time, such as Hon. Nicholas Snow, who married Constance Hopkins, the daughter of Stephen Hopkins by his first wife, and who came over with her father in the Mayflower. And Lieut. Joseph Rogers, son of Thomas Rogers, who also came over with his father, Thomas Rogers, on the Mayflower. Lieut. Joseph Rogers came from Sandwich, Mass., at which town his children were all born, as will be seen in another place in this genealogy. Ralph Smyth became an extensive land owner in Eastham.

EDMOND HOBART

EDMOND HOBART, b. in Hingham, Norfolk Co., Eng., in 1574.

Came

to this country in 1633; m. (1) Margaret Dewey. When 60 years old he, with Rebecca, Sarah, Joshua and servant,

Henry

Gibbs, set sail for this country near the end of March, 1633, and landed at Charlestown about the middle of the following May. Soon after, two more of his sons, Edmond, Jr., and wife, Thomas and wife, and three children, arrived. In 1635 his son, Rev. Peter, with wife and four children, also arrived at Charlestown. In the following September Mr. Hobart, with sons and other friends, removed to Bear Cove, a place about 12 miles from Boston. They changed the name, calling it Hingham after the town from which they came. His first wife, who was the mother of his children, died in Hingham. His second wife, Ann Lylford, was the widow of Rev. John Lylford. She died June 23, 1649. Mr. Hobart died at Hingham March 8, 1646, in his 76th year. He was made freeman March 4, 1734, and constable same year. By first wife he had

9 children, Rebecca, b. 1598; m. Ralph Smyth; Sarah, b. 1600; Edmond, Peter, b. 1604 (twins); Thomas, b. 1606; Mary, b. 1608; Mahitable, b. 1610; Elizabeth, b. 1612; Joshua, b. 1614. A man of marked ability. (See Hist. of Hingham, Mass., Vol. 3, p. 334, and Hobart's Genealogy, by L. Smith Hobart, Springfield, Mass., 1886.)

NOTE: -- The writer feels confident that Rebecca Hobart was born some years later than 1598. Cushing gives her as fifth child of Edmond Hobart. Thomas, the fourth child was born in 1600; so Rebecca must have been born at least two years later.

Samuel, born Feb. 21, 1729; Joseph, born Sept. 9, 1731. All born at Eastham.

24

JOHN2 SMITH, son of Ralph,1 of Eastham, Mass., was baptized in Hingham, Mass., July 23, 1644. He married in Eastham, May 24, 1667, Hannah Williams, daughter of Thomas of Plymouth and Elizabeth Tate, who were married Nov. 30, 1638. It is supposed that he had many children, but only two are to be found on the Eastham Records; Sarah and Elizabeth. Thomas Williams made his will May, 1692, in which he gives to his grandson, John Smith, a lot of land at Eastham. His family and will found (N. E. Reg., Vol. 26, p. 191).

The children of John Smith were:

i. Elizabeth, b. in Eastham, Feb. 24, 1668.
ii. Sarah, b. in Eastham, March 27, 1671-2.
iii. John, b. (???); m. Sarah (???).

25

DANIEL2 SMITH, son of Ralph,1 bapt. at Hingham, Mass., March 2, 1647
(N. E. Reg., Vol. 26, p. 190); d. at Eastham, Mass., March, 1720. He m.
Mary
Young, at Eastham, March 3, 1676. (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 18, and Vol.
8, p. 16; also N. E. Reg.; Vol. 7, p. 280.) Mary Young, b. Apr. 28, 1658, at Eastham, Mass., was the daut. of John Young and wife, Abigail, of Eastham (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 18, and Vol. 8, p. 16; also N. Y.
Gen. & Biog. Rec., Vol. 35, p. 257). The above Mary Young had the following named brothers and sisters: John, b. 1649; Joseph, b. 1651;
Joseph, b. 1654; Nathaniel, b. 1656; Abigail, b. 1660; David, b. 1662;
Lydia, b. 1664; Robert, b. 1667; Henry, b. 1669, and Henry, b. 1672.

Their children were:

i. Daniel, b. Jan. 8, 1676; can find no further record of him.

Page 18

	ii.	Comfort, b. Jan. 8, 1680; m. Thomas Lows of Yarmouth,
		Dec. 11, 1701 (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 18).
28	iii.	Abigail, b. Apr. 30, 1681; m. Jeremiah Smith of Eastham, Mass.
29	iv.	James, b. the last week in April, 1685; m. Hannah
		Rogers.
30	v.	Nathaniel, b. Oct., 1687; m. Abigail Gross.
	vi.	Mary, b. Jan. 8, 1692; d. Feb. 16, 1705.

All the above family of Daniel Smith and wife, Mary, found (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 18).

Daniel2 Smith's will was entered for Probate Jan. 20, 1720 (Probate Lib. 3, Folio 63), in which he mentions his wife Mary, and his children, Daniel, James, Abigail, Content House, and Nathaniel. The latter received the homestead, and was appointed administrator (N. E. Reg., Vol. 26, p. 191). His widow, Mary, was living Feb. 1, 1738, as found in Barnstable Probate, Vol. 6, p. 223, when she gave a receipt to her son, Nathaniel, as executor for her brother's estate.

THOMAS2 SMITH, son of Ralph,1 b. probably at Hingham, Mass., about 1650. He m. Mary about 1681. She d. March 22, 1726-7, at Eastham (May. Desc., Vol. 4, p. 141). He d. between May 10, 1720, and Oct. 18, 1720. The Probate Records of Barnstable County, Mass., Vol. 3, p. 572, show that Thomas Smith's Will was proved Oct. 18, 1720. It is a lengthy document, couched in the then usual verbage in making Wills, in which he mentions his wife Mary and each of his children in the distribution of quite a large estate. His youngest son, Jesse, gets the homestead. He gives one negro child to his son Ralph, and another Negro child to his son Thomas. Hist. of Eastham, p. 103, shows that he was a Representative to the General Court at Boston. He was evidently a prominent man in the community where he lived, and the possessor of quite a large fortune, for that time.

His children were:

31	i.	Ralph, b. in Eastham, Mass., Oct. 23, 1682 (N. E.
		Reg., Vol. 7, p. 297); m. Mary Mayo, daut. of Samuel Mayo.
	ii.	Rebecca, b. March 31, 1687; m. Theopelus Mayo,
		Aug. 31, 1705.
32	iii.	Thomas, b. Jan. 29, 1687-8; m. Joanna Mayo, Nov. 3, 1709. He d. Sept. 20, 1745; she d. March 24, 1763.
	iv.	David, b. March, 1691.
	v.	Jonathan, b. July 5, 1693.
	vi.	Isaac, b. June 3, 1695; d. Apr. 26, 1704.
33	vii.	Jesse, b. Jan. 31, 1703; m. Sarah Higgins, of Eastham.

For this family, see May. Desc., Vol. 4, pp. 141-2, and N. E. Reg., Vol. 26, p. 438.

THIRD GENERATION

27

JOHN3 SMITH, son of Samuel,2 Ralph,1 b. May 26, 1673, at Eastham, Mass.; d. at Chatham, Mass., before Feb. 25, 1717; m. (1) Mary Hopkins of Eastham; m. (2) Bertha Snow of Eastham, May 14, 1694. She a descendant of Stephen Hopkins.

Their children were:

i. James. ii. Samuel. iii. Dean. iv. John. v. Stephen. vi. David. vii. Seth. vii. Mercy. ix. Mary. x. Bertha.

Samuel,4 son of John3 Samuel2 Ralph,1 born May 21, 1696, at Eastham. He married (1) July 19, 1718, Mary Higgins of Eastham. She died Sept. 25, 1736. He married (2) Sarah Snow of Eastham, both descendants of Stephen Hopkins, through his daughter, Constance, who married Hon. Nicholas Snow. Samuel4 and Sarah Snow had 5 children, viz.: Lemuel, Sarah, Lemuel, Stephen and Ruben.

Stephen,5 son of Samuel4 Smith and Sarah Snow, born Sept. 28, 1744, at Eastham, Mass., and died at Sandisfield, Mass., about 1839, aged 95 years. He married at Eastham, Jan. 18, 1776, Sarah Pepper, a descendant of Isaac Pepper, one of the earliest settlers of Eastham. She died at Sandisfield, Aug. 16, 1796.

They had four children:

Samuel6 Smith, Temperance,6 Rebecca,6 Stephen.6 Samuel and Temperance went to New York State. Rebecca married John Canfield, Jr., of Sandisfield; Rebecca, born at Sandisfield, April 14, 1775. Stephen5 and wife, Sarah, and his brother,

Ruben,5 who was born at Eastham, March 9, 1747, and who married Phebe Snow, Feb. 22, 1771, emigrated from Eastham to Easthadam, Conn., remaining there but a short time, and then removed to Sandisfield, where they built themselves substantial houses, which are still standing. Ruben Smith5 and wife, Phebe, had a large family. He died March 26, 1826, aged 79 years. She died March 30, 1815, both dying at Sandisfield.

Stephen Smith,6 son of Stephen and Sarah, born Nov. 14, 1776, at Sandisfield; died Jan. 13, 1849. He married Mary Canfield about 1801. They had six children, born at Sandisfield. For further particulars of this family, see Smith's Genealogy, by Wellington Smith.

Lemuel5 Smith, brother of Stephen5 and Reuben,5 born Oct. 7, 1742, at Eastham, Mass. (E. B., 1701-1781, p. 135), marriage intention Oct. 7, 1762, to Mercy Myrick of Eastham (E. B., 1701-1781, p. 177). The Sandisfield Town Records has the names of their 12 children: Sarah, born Aug. 11, 1769; Fear, born Sept. 19, 1771; Lydia, born Dec. 29, 1773; Polly, born Aug. 13, 1775; Lovina, born May 26, 1777; Janette, born Jan. 3, 1781; Josiah, born March 27, 1784; Gideon, born Apr. 11, 1786; Mercy, born Apr. 4, 1790; Allen, born June 26, 1792; Laura, born Oct. 30, 1794; Nancy, born March 11, 1802.

A Richard, son of Lemuel Smith, died August 18, 1784. Ellis, second wife of Capt. Lemuel Smith, died Aug. 18, 1784. From this record he appears to have had at least three wives. The church record has this entry: "Lemuel Smith and wife united with Sandisfield Church from Eastham, May 6, 1770," (which was doubtless within one year of their arrival in that town).

ABIGAIL3 SMITH, daut. of Daniel2 and Mary Young Smith, b. April 30, 1686; m. Jeremiah Smith, son of Jeremiah and Atwood Smith of Eastham, Mass.; b. Aug. 18, 1685.

"DR. DWIGHT SMITH, Port Chester, N. Y.

Dear Sir--I find two conveyances made in 1751. One to Benjamin Smith, and one to Solomon Smith. The parties were mentioned as being of Hebron, Conn., and land purchased in Township No. 3, known as Haussatunick. The grantees' wives are not mentioned, etc., etc.,

> Yours truly, JAMES R. WELLS."

The above purchase shows that the brothers Solomon and Benjamin Smith purchased land in what was later called Sandisfield, in 1751, and that they had previously acquired a residence in Hebron, Conn., though how long they resided there is not known. Solomon Smith and his wife Susanna left Eastham, Mass., after the birth of their first child, Solomon, Jr., Nov. 3, 1741; and that of their second son Uriel, which occurred Sept. 1, 1743. The birth of the latter and of Amos, are found in family records, but the place is not mentioned. Their five children were all born before reaching Sandisfield. The marriage of Benjamin Smith and Ruth Snow, Nov. 30, 1745, is found on the Eastham records, but no children. Their three eldest children, Dorcas, Ruth and Rebecca, were born before reaching Sandisfield, though seven were born in that town.

The brothers settled on adjoining land.

Solomon Smith built the fifth house in Sandisfield, which was doubtless made of logs, like all houses built at that time and place, but was replaced by a frame house in 1772. The country was thickly covered with hardwood, and like most of Berkshire County at that time, was an unbroken wilderness. There were no roads or bridges and but little of the land was surveyed. But in a few years quite a large population came in, and took up land. Many coming directly and indirectly from Eastham, Mass. In a few years it was one of the most populous towns in the western part of the state, composed of a superior class of men and women. The first settler of the town was Thomas Brown of Enfield, Conn., who came in 1750. In 1775 at the commencement of the war of the Revolution there were 135 men capable of bearing arms. Fifteen Smiths did military duty; some doing service as "Minute Men," who were frequently called out for longer or shorter time; others enlisted for the war. Some as commission officers and some acquired their commissions during service.

On Feb. 24, 1756, the Sandisfield church was organized. Benjamin Smith being one of a committee of 14 to organize the church. The committee uniting by letter. Ruth, wife of Benjamin, and Susanna, wife of Solomon Smith, united from Eastham, Mass., as did many others.

The town of Sandisfield was incorporated March 6, 1762. The first town meeting was called April 19, 1762. Solomon Smith was appointed constable, and Benjamin Smith and William Underwood, tithing men. Berkshire County was incorporated April 24, 1761. The act to take effect the 30th June following.

Families of 10 and 15 children were not infrequent in those times, and though life was laborious, many lived to good old age. Susanna Smith, like some others, reached the advanced age of 90 years.

The history of this town is quite well given by George Shepard in the History of Berkshire County.

The town of Sandisfield lies in the extreme southeast part of Berkshire County. Bounded north by Monterey and Otis east by Otis and Tolland in Hampshire County; south by the Connecticut line, and west by New Marlborough and Monterey, This town was originally granted in 1735 to a Company of Worcester and Middlesex Counties. They petitioned the General Court for a grant of four townships. Their petition was referred to a committee, and on Jan. 15, 1735, Edmond Quincy, Esq., from a committee of both houses, gave the following report, which was accepted: "That there be four townships opened upon the road between Wethersfield and Sheffield and that they be contigeous to one another, and either joined to Sheffield or to the township of Blanford, lately granted to the proprietors of Suffield, each to contain six miles square, and that there be sixty-three home lots laid out in a compact and defensible form, in each township; one of which to be for the first settled minister, one for the second settled minister, one for schools, and one for each grantee, who shall draw equal shares in all future divisions; that the grantees be such petitioners as have not been grantees or settlers for seven years next preceding, and give security to the value of £40 for a performance of usual conditions, and that a joint committee of five be appointed for such purpose.

The townships were given no names, but were designated as Townships No. 1, 2, 3 and 4. Sandisfield was No. 3. The remaining ones, in their numerical order, being Tyringham, Marlboro and Becket. After these grants, however, another petition was presented by the proprietors, praying for a supplemental grant, as compensation for losses sustained in extinguishing the Indian title to the territory. They claimed that they had expended £200 for surveying said townships, and other necessary charges, and providing themselves with sufficient money in hand to purchase the land from the Indians, if there should be an occasion, as then seemed apparent. A sum of £300 was expended for that purpose to satisfy the Indians, for which expenditure they asked that they be given all the broken parts, or parcels of land included in the original grant, which amounted to more than the four towns. This claim was granted, and compensation allowed of two tracts of 11,000 acres each; which were called North, 11,000 acres, and South, 11,000 acres. The former, and some other tracts, in 1809 was called Otis. The latter 11,000 acres was formed into a district, and in 1797 was named Southfield, and on Feb. 8, 1819, was annexed to Sandisfield, which town had been incorporated on March 6, 1762, under its present name, given in honor of Samuel Sandys, who in 1761 had been appointed first "Lord of Trades and Plantations."

Solomon4 Smith having died May 13, 1790, on June 2, his son Uriel bought out the heirs of his father's farm, buildings, etc., for the sum of £200 lawful silver money. The following Quit-claim Deed names all his brothers and sister and clearly shows that the widow Susanna, n,e Snow, was the one who was born and married at Eastham, Mass. The Sandisfield Church Record shows that Susanna, wife of Solomon Smith, joined that church in 1758 from Eastham, Mass.

JAMES4 SMITH

JAMES4 SMITH, son of James3 and Hannah (Rogers) Smith (Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. April 8, 1718. Family tradition says that James4 accompanied his brothers, Solomon and Benjamin, in their migration from supposedly Hebron, Conn., with their wives and children, as far as the Connecticut River, on their way to recently purchased land, in what was afterwards called Sandisfield, where he bid them all adieu and took the then much frequented route to the east end of Long Island, where all knowledge of him was lost. Tradition does not say whether he was married or not; doubtless he was, as that was quite the fashion in those times; and he was 33 years old at that time (1751) and all his brothers and sister Grace were married and had families. Some of the Eastham people went to the Hamptons or vicinity, which is about the locality that he set out for. The writer has not ventured into the inextricable maze of Long Island Smiths.

JOSHUA4 SMITH

Descendants of Joshua4 Smith (James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph,1) and wife Mercy (Snow) Smith, of the fifth generation from Thomas6 Rogers (Joshua,5 Hannah,4 n,e Rogers, John3 Rogers, Lieut. Joseph2 Rogers, Thomas1 Rogers). His wife Mercy (Snow) Smith of the fifth generation from Stephen1 Hopkins (Mercy5 Snow, Stephen4 Snow, Lieut. Joseph3 Snow, Constance2 Snow n,e Hopkins, Stephen1 Hopkins of the Mayflower).

JOSHUA4 SMITH, son of James3 and Hannah (Rogers) Smith, b. at Eastham, Mass., July 19, 1720 (May. Desc., Vol. 5, p. 197); d. at Sandisfield, Mass., Feb. 16, 1771, aged 51 years. He m. Mercy Snow, daut. of Stephen Snow and Margaret (Elkins) of Eastham (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 16). The Marriage Intentions of Joshua Smith and Mercy Snow is found (E. B., 1701-1781, p. 229). She was b. Feb. 24, 1721-2 (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 16), and was living at the settlement of her father's estate in 1773 (Barnstable Probate, Vol. 17, p. 95).

They had eleven children:

47	i.	Joshua, Jr., b. (???), 1743-4; place not known.
48	ii.	Heman, b. June 7, 1747, at Hebron, Conn.

GRACE SMITH, DAUGHTER OF JAMES SMITH AND HANNAH (ROGERS) SMITH.

38

GRACE4 SMITH, daut. of James3 and Hannah (Rogers) Smith, was b., as we have seen on another page, at Eastham, Mass., Dec. 17, 1722. Marriage intentions to Matthew Williams, Jr., of Hebron, published at Eastham, April 22, 1749 (E. B., 1701–1781, p. 199). Nothing further about her is found on Eastham Records. But the following is found on the Hebron Records:

"Matthew Williams, Jr., and Grace Smith 'was' joined together in marriage 7th Sept., 1749." It has been observed that Grace was the only daut. of James3 Smith and Hannah, and that she had six brothers: Levi, b. March 15, 1713-4; Solomon, b. March 8, 1715-16; James, Jr., b. April 8, 1718; Joshua, b. July 19, 1720; Benjamin, b. Oct. 3, 1724; Phineas, b. March 7, 1728-9; Grace and Matthew Williams had seven children, b. in Hebron, Conn.: Hannah, b. Sept. 29, 1750; Grace, b. June 1, 1752; Matthew, b. May 13, 1754, d. May 14, 1754; Levi, b. June 11, 1756; Timra, b. Sept. 6, 1758; Isaac, b. Dec. 5, 1764; (Achsah).

Mary Williams, wife of Matthew Williams, Sr., d. Aug. 8, 1720. Matthew Williams, Sr., son of Augustine Williams, b. Oct. 27, 1688. Matthew Williams, Jr., b. Oct. 8, 1720. Relict of Matthew Williams, d. March 30, 1775. Possibly this was Grace, wife of Matthew Williams, Jr. This is also found on those records: "Benjamin Smith, son of Benjamin, d. March 25, 1738."

A Thomas Smith's monument is found in the Episcopal Cemetery, who d. April 22, 1821, in the 84^{th} year of his age (b. in 1737).

And the fifth generation from Thomasl Rogers (Benjamin,5 Hannah4 (Rogers) Smith, John3 Rogers, Joseph2 Rogers, Thomasl Rogers).

BENJAMIN4 SMITH, son of James and Hannah (Rogers) Smith (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 18), (James, 3 Daniel, 2 Ralph1), b. at Eastham, Mass., Oct. 3, 1724 (May. Desc., Vol. 5, p. 197); d. at Sandisfield, Mass., Feb. 10, 1796 (see Tombstone, Sandisfield); m. Ruth Snow, Nov. 30, 1745 (E. B., 1701-1781). She b. at Eastham, Dec. 11, 1725 (May. Desc., Vol. 7, p. 16), daut. of Stephen Snow and Margaret (Elkins) Snow, d. at Sandisfield. Benjamin4 Smith emigrated to Sandisfield in 1751, with his brother Solomon, with their wives and children, where they had bought land, giving their address as Hebron, Conn. An account of their migration is given under "Solomon Smith and family." Benjamin4 Smith was one of a committee of 14 to organize the Sandisfield church, on Feb. 24, 1754. Ruth Smith united with the church Jan. 15, 1758. Susanna, wife of Solomon Smith, was admitted at the same time, from Eastham, Mass. Samuel Smith and wife admitted May 6, 1770, and Lemuel5 and wife Mercy at the same time, all from Eastham. Lemuel5 Smith, brother of Stephen5 and Ruben5 Smith, son of Samuel4 and Sarah Snow of Eastham (John, 3 Samuel, 2 Ralph1).

Benjamin4 Smith made his Will in 1776, Benjamin, Jr., being an executor. His estate was settled Sept. 14, 1796. He mentions in said Will his wife Ruth and all his living children. Only one had died: Elkins, who d. July 12, 1768, when about 2 years old. After paying his funeral expenses and all debts and fees for settling his estate, there was a balance of $736.24, Phineas4 Smith removed from Eastham with his family about 1770. He made his will Sept. 5, 1786, in which he mentions his wife Ruth, and his 8 children: Levi, Ebenezer, Mary, James, Phebe, Henry, Elisha and Josiah. He appoints his son Henry sole executor. Date of settling of the estate, April 26, 1787. His brothers Solomon and Benjamin, bondsmen. Albert Wilcox, Lemuel5 Smith and Phineas Kinsbury witnesses, He appears to have been an enterprising man and left quite an estate for the time and place, and of good education. His Will was drawn by his own hand, and was well worded and beautifully written.

Ruth (Doane) Smith is mentioned in the Sandisfield department of the History of Berkshire County, Mass., as one of the many of that town who had reached an unusual longevity.

Their children were:

Sept. 1, 1743, place not positively known, but supposed at Hebron, Conn., and d. at Sandisfield, Mass., May 20, 1818, aged 75 years. He m. Alice Fuller, the widow of Noah Fuller, Sr., of New Britain, Conn.; the exact date of marriage not known. She joined the church at Sandisfield by letter from the 1st Church of New Britain, Conn., as the wife of Uriel Smith of Sandisfield, on May 6, 1770, and d. at Sandisfield Oct. 27, 1794, in the 56th year of her age. She was therefore b. in 1738. Her maiden name was Alice Brown. She m. her (1) husband, Noah Fuller, Sr., June 3, 1757. They lived back of Dublin Hill, at New Britain, Conn. The church records say that he, Noah Fuller, "owned the covenent July 30, 1758," and must have died about Jan., 1767, as administration was granted Feb. 3, 1767. Janna Churchil gave bonds to court with the widow, Alice. Isaac Lee, Noah Stanley and Elijah Francis were the commissioners of the estate, amt. to £31 17s. Andrew's History of the First Church of New Britain says the wife of Noah Fuller, Sr., "owned the covenent July 30, 1758."

He left at his death three small children, as follows: Page 43 Page 44 i. Gad, b. (???); bapt. June 3, 1759; d. Dec. 2, 1776, in captivity at New York, as a prisoner of war. Frederick H. and (???).

Alice, the wife of Uriel5 Smith, was buried at the old cemetery at Sandisfield Center, and from whose tombstone I copy the following inscription: "Alice, wife of Uriel Smith, died Oct. 27, 1794, aged 56 years. She was a distinguished follower of Christ. On her lips was the law of kindness. She opened her hand to the poor; she trained her children for God. Her life was that of faith; her death triumphant." She died of a cancer of the forehead. She was highly esteemed by all who knew her. In the later years of her life she must have felt some doubt as to baptism by sprinkling being the correct form, as is seen by the following copy made by the writer from the Baptist Church in Sandisfield: "July 18, 1790, was baptised Alice Smith, wife of Uriel Smith of Sandisfield, by Elder Benjamin Baldwin, in the fellowship of this church, and is under the watch and care of this church until God shall further make known to her her duty, enjoying in full in covenant."

The writer feels compelled, though with reluctance, to make the following statement of facts about this most estimable Christian woman. She had been afflicted, for how long it is not now known, with a then called "tumor" in the center of her forehead. It had necessarily been attended with much pain and prolonged suffering. At last five of the most eminent physicians of the surrounding towns were called in consultation, four of whom advised an immediate operation. The fifth one said, "Don't operate, for if you do, she will die at once, as so much of the frontal bone was eaten away that there will be no support to her brain." The majority ruled; and in this, as in many instances, it was wrong. She died almost instantly. In fact, it was a bone cancer--that most dreaded and fatal of all human diseases, that claims its millions every year, including those of the most exalted station of life, as well as the lowly. It has been said that 10 per cent of the aristocracy of England die of this incurable disease. That branch of the Smith family, up to her advent, had been free from all constitutional or blood taint, but from that time, not a generation has passed that has not paid its toll of more or less victims to that scourge. When, or where, it will stop, no one can say, or how soon he or she may become its victim.

The Massachusetts Soldiers' and Sailors', Volume 4, Page 520, has the following war record of Uriel Smith of Sandisfield: "Uriel Smith, Private, Capt. Elijah Demming's Co., Col. Ashley's Berkshire Co. Reg. Entered service July 8, 1777; discharged

EZEKIEL5 SMITH, son of Solomon4 and Susanna (Snow) Smith,

The writer has been unable to find time or place of his birth or marriage; but was born before his parents reached Sandisfield (1751); possibly about 1745. The Vermont Revolutionary records show that he served as a soldier from Bennington in 1776-1777-1780 and 1781. From the 1st U. S. Census, 1790, we learn he had one son over 16 years old and one daughter. The Bennington Town Records show that he married Esther, and they had Ezikel, Jr., and Ruth. The latter m. Aaron Hubbal in 1814. That Ezekiel Smith purchased, Apr. 23, 1792, a tract of land in that town for £350, and the following

May 20th another parcel for £300. In 1796 he signed a quit claim deed. The Hubbals were a wealthy family. No further record.

They possibly had a blind son, named Zirab.

SUSANNA5 SMITH, daut. of Solomon4 and Susanna Smith, place and date of birth not found.

She was born before her parents reached Sandisfield, in 1751, from Hebron, Conn. Her name appears in settling her father's estate in 1790 and 1796, as Susanna State, wife of Ebenezar State, of Dorset, Vt. At the time of 1st U. S. Census they had 3 sons, 16 yrs. and upward, and 4 dauts. This is all the writer can find about this family. They probably sold their property and moved away soon after 1800.

Dr. Amos5 Smith of Sandisfield, Mass. His children and descendants.

He the son of Solomon1 Smith and Susanna, n,e Snow. And of the fifth generation from Ralph1 Smyth (Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1).

And the sixth generation from Thomasl Rogers (Amos,6 Solomon,5 Hannah4 Smith, n,e Rogers, John3 Rogers, Lieut. Joseph2 Rogers, Thomasl Rogers).

And the sixth generation from Stephenl Hopkins (Amos,6 Susanna5 Smith, n,e Snow, Benjamin4 Snow, Lieut. Joseph8 Snow, Constance2 Snow, n,e Hopkins, Stephenl Hopkins).

AMOS5 SMITH, son of Solomon4 and Susanna (Snow) Smith, (James,3 Daniel,2 Ralphl), was born Oct. 23, 1747, but where, it is not known. His parents had left Eastham, Mass., before Sept. 1, 1743; the date of birth of their second child, Uriel. Amos was a few months less than four years old when the family reached Sandisfield. Uriel was seven and Solomon, Jr., was ten years old. At the age of 25 years he m. his first wife (her name not known), and by whom he had four children: Tryphenia, Amos, Jr.,

Hannah and Amariah. The first and second one died when less than one year old. She having d., he m. Christiana Phelps July 29, 1783, by whom he had ten more children. He was a very bright man, for besides working a large farm, he found time to study medicine and became a physician of more than local renown. He served much time during the War of the Revolution. He was a private in Capt. Jacob Brown's Co.; Col. John Fuller's Reg., which in response to the "first alarm" of Apr. 19, 1775. His name appears frequently on the register of soldiers and sailors from Massachusetts. As a physician he was frequently called in consultation, and to perform surgical operations, and on one such occasion, night having overtaken him, he stopped at a house to ask for lodgings, where he found signs of festivity within, and that a wedding was taking place therein; but he was heartily received as a guest, and later was asked for a speech, when he soon had his hearers all in tears, but before concluding they were all shouting with laughter, which would indicate that he was gifted with oratory in no small degree. That he was a man of courage and energy, is shown by his desperate encounter with a wolf, in which he came off conqueror. In those times, clergymen were looked up to with much awe, and as superior beings; but Amos had the courage to move in town meeting that the pious minister give his slave, Toney, his freedom. But this request was refused by the owner. He lived in, as then known, South 11000 Acres, in the south part of the town of Sandisfield. He died there on Oct. 6, 1807, aged 60 years. His gravestone is to be seen in the cemetery near his old home. His widow died Aug. 2, 1854, aged 92 yrs. She married Dr. Ebenezar Holt, of the north part of that town. They are all buried in the same cemetery. His wife, Christiana (Phelps), was the tenth and last child of David and Margaret (Colton) Phelps of Enfield, Conn. He b. Aug. 25, 1716, at Enfield, and m. Many years later his granddaughter, Huldah Smith, daut. of Dr. Ira Smith, had a tombstone erected to mark his grave, which is still standing on his then farm, surrounded by bushes. His grandson, Edmond Ruel Smith, said of him: "He appears to have been a man of good education, and wrote a clear and well-rounded hand. He probably understood surveying, and had a knowledge of ancient classics, as the inventory of his effects includes: A Latin grammar, Latin dictionary and corder, a Greek grammar, and Clark's Introduction. He owned a farm of 289 acres, a dwelling and barns. The records of deeds show that he bought numerous pieces of land in and around Sandisfield, and was a man apparently well off for those times, when the war had left the people poor, and they had but few luxuries. His widow, Freelove, m. Daniel Hurd of Sandisfield, who m. (1) Rebecca Smith,

- vi. Harvy, b. April 12, 1808; m. Emma M. Basset, June 9, 1835; d. Dec. 15, 1877.

Uriel6 Smith, Esq., was a man of strong physique and endowed with superior mental ability. At the age of 14 his mother, a most superior woman, and of strong religious nature, passed away, which at that formative age was most unfortunate. He then being the only son left to his father, he was greatly humored, and allowed to have his own way in all things. At the age of 23 years he married a widow by the name of Sally Knowls. Her maiden name being Sally French. She being two years his senior, having been born Sept. 9, 1778, and by whom he had five children, all dying as soon as born, save the last one, who was named Myron, who was born in 1814. He was a Representative to the Massachusetts Legislature in 1813, 1814, 1817, 1827, and 1831. His wife, Sarah, died May 25, 1818; and five days after his father, Uriel Smith,1 died. On Aug. 29, 1819, he married Sophronia Church, of Colebrook, Conn., who was more than 19 years his junior; a superior woman in all respects, and of great energy, taste and refinement, by whom he had 10 children, 7 living to be adults. I am compelled to say of this able man, who was a power in the community where he lived, that in the treatment of his family he was an arrogant despot and ruled with a rod of iron, and never in all his life did he ever speak a kind or endearing word to wife or children. His only thought was to get all the work out of them that was possible.

The only enjoyment his wife or children had was when they were out of his sight. He lived to see his possessions crumble away, and dissipated by his only unworthy son, Myron; and he deserted by all the others. He died at the advanced age of 84 years. The once beautiful house which he built with so much care in 1833, was totally destroyed by fire in March, 1890. It is now difficult to find where the house and outbuildings once stood. The costly stone fences are flat with the ground, and his large farm grown up to bushes. His pretentious monument of red sandstone in an abandoned cemetery, is rapidly crumbling, and soon nothing will remain to show that such a person ever lived in that town. A fit ending of his selfish career. Truly we reap what we sow. History is valuable only as it narrates facts.

While in a fit of rage, he changed his will and gave all his property to his oldest son, Myron, who was by his first wife, Sally, and of whom he knew but little, as he had lived south for many years, during which time he had not seen him. He soon came home and took possession of his father's homestead and all his possessions. And with a savage hand he drove out his two youngest half-brothers, one 15 and the other 13 years of age. A few years after his father passed away. He lived long enough, in spite of his intemperate habits, to dissipate his inheritance, and died a bankrupt, leaving a widow and one daughter, whom the writer is pleased to say is a fine woman.

Note.--Solomon4 Smith, in 1772, built a frame house to take the place of the one of logs. This was replaced by a substantial brick house in 1833, by Uriel6 Smith. This was the one destroyed in March, 1890. On the death of Solomon4 Smith, which occurred May 13, 1790, this second son, Uriel5 bought the heirs out, including the widow, Susanna, and the children, Amos, Solomon,2 Ezekiel and Susanna State, nee Smith. This document is recorded on Record Book 33, page 530, at Great Barrington, Mass.

URIEL6 SMITH and Sophronia (Church) Smith had the following children:

He was a farmer at North Colebrook, Ct. Two more estimable persons were never united in the bonds of matrimony then Sylvester Smith and Laura A. Cowles. And their strong and sterling qualities appear to have been transmitted to their children and to all his descendants. His son, Milton, was a man of fine mind and love for literature. He left a son, Rufus B. Smith, who is a lawyer of much renown in Madison, Wisconsin, and has but few peers in his profession in that state. He is known as an honest man and an upright lawyer.

His other son, William A. Smith, was a man of great energy and force of character. He succeeded in acquiring quite a competency from his rockey farms in Colebrook, Conn. In his later life he emigrated to Wichita, Kansas, where he died, leaving much valuable real estate and mortgages. He was a man 6 feet 6 inches tall; was an honorable and honest man and respected by all who knew him.

Their children were:

Webster, a man highly respected in Sandisfield, where he represented his district in the General Court. Wolcott Francis8 Smith has been a Baptist minister for 35 years, and is a preacher of fervor and eloquence. They had but one child, viz: Francis Abner,9 b. Oct. 24, 1874; graduated with first honors at Peddie Institute, Hightstown, N. J., in 1892, and Collegiate University (B. A.) in 1896. Is a teacher, now master in Girls' High School, Boston, Mass., which is the largest high school in New England. He married Lavina Winchester, Nov. 29, 1900, and have 2 children, Wolcott Winchester, 10 b. Oct. 16, 1903; Francis Webster, 10 b. Aug. 31, 1906.

They reside at 33 Pelton St., West Roxbury, Boston, Mass.

Without the aid and suggestions of Mr. Francis A. Smith the writer would not have attempted to compile this genealogy.

JARED B. DOWD

Family of Jared B. Dowd and Sally,6 n,e Smith, his wife. She of the sixth generation from Ralph1 Smyth (Sally,6 Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1).

And the seventh generation from Thomas1 Rogers (Sally,7 Amos,6 Solomon,5 Hannah4 Smith, n,e Rogers, John3 Rogers, Lieut. Joseph2 Rogers, Thomas1 Rogers).

And the seventh generation from Stephenl Hopkins (Sally,7 Amos,6 Susanna5 Smith, n,e Snow, Benjamin4 Snow, Lieut. Joseph3 Snow, Constance2 Snow, n,e Hopkins, Stephenl Hopkins).

SALLY6 SMITH, daut. of Dr. Amos5 and Christiana Smith, was the 12th child of Dr. Amos Smith. b. June 20, 1798, at Sandisfield, Mass.; d. at Lee, Mass., Jan. 20, 1880, aged 81 years 11 months. She, as the writer remembers her, was short of stature, rather light of complexion and light brown hair. She was a most estimable woman, and made the best of her opportunities. She m. Jared B. Dowd at Colebrook, Conn., Feb. 2, 1824. He b. at Sandisfield, Mass., Feb. 16, 1802, and d. at Lee, Mass., Oct. 26, 1863. The Dowds were among the earliest settlers of Sandisfield. Henry Dowd, who came from England about the middle of the 17th century, settled at Gilford, Ct.; 4,000 of his desc. are said to be living now in America. Many of whom served in the National Wars, among whom are several church elders. Henry Dowd and his son, Jared B. Dowd, were born in Sandisfield.

The latter was a man of fine ability. He always took a prominent position in the local debating societies, in which it is said that the talent displayed would frequently do credit to any forum or legislative halls in the nation. Uriel Smith, Esq., and his sons, Corren and Cyrus, and many others of exceptionable fine local talent took leading parts in the debates, in which weighty questions were discussed with dignity and ability. In speaking of the native talent of this once important agricultural town, the writer is reminded of a conversation with the late

Rev. Platt Holley, in 1874, who was the pastor of the Congregational Church for 16 years in Sandisfield, Mass., during about the height of its prosperity, and the greatest population, in which he said: "I have been located in many towns, some of importance, since I left my pastorate in Sandisfield in the early forties, and can say that never since have I been in a town that had so many superior men, both mentally and physically, as had Sandisfield at that time." He mentioned the "Dowds, the Searses, the Hulls, the Twinings, the Wolcotts, Uriel Smith, and many others." Many of the earliest settlers were Smiths, nearly all of whom came from Eastham, Mass., and were desc. of Ralph Smyth. Many came from there of other names, and from other parts of Eastern or Central Massachusetts, none of whom had ever been rocked in the lap of luxury; but were men composed of the right "stuff" to fell the forests, build roads and bridges, and wrench a living out of the rocky and inhospitable soil. The first settler arrived in 1750, Mr. Thomas Brown, of Suffield, Conn. In 1754 a church was established; Jonathan Edwards of Stockbridge preached the ordination sermon in a barn.

Their children were:

	117	i.	John, b. March 4, 1825, at Sandisfield, Mass.
		ii.	Mary C., b. (???), 1828, at Sandisfield; d. at Beloit, Wis., 1902.
	118	iii.	Rex Jared, the 3d and last child of Jared B. and Ruel Smith was a merchant in New York City. The firm of "Smith & Mills" was formed about 1855. They did a large trade in Front St., near Fletcher St., on East Side. The firm was later changed to "Smith, Mills & Co." They did a large business in wines, sugar and rice. Mr. Drake Mills had a brother living in Charleston, S. C., who shipped to them large quantities of rice for many years. Mr. Ruel Smith was short, thick-set, and an active man. He had a large place in Skaneateles, N. Y., where he spent much of his time in his later days. But after becoming a widower, he lived at the St. Nicholas Hotel, when in town. Mr. Smith and his partner, Drake Mills, and the Mills of Charleston, after whom the Mills House there was named, and another brother by the name of Mills, and Celestia (Mills) Smith, wife of Ruel Smith6 were all born in Sandisfield, Mass., and were fine examples of energy, thrift and enterprise of the early inhabitants of that hilly town. The writer has walked many a time over the fields that they had cultivated with their own hands, and remembers the old house where they were all born, and has seen the plot in the old abandoned cemetery where their parents, Drake Mills and his wife, Celestia Mills, were buried. Ruel6 Smith was b. A SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF WILLIAM SMITH AND HIS WIFE, SARAH MARIA (ROOD), BY THEIR DAUGHTER, MRS. A. J. BEEBE.

William Smith was born July 2, 1803, in Standisfield, Mass., His father was Solomon Smith, the third, and his mother was Lucy Paine. His father died when he was 3 years old, and his brother, Solomon,4 was two days old. My father was placed with relatives by his mother and lived in Becket, Mass., for a time. At an early age he left his adopted home to face the world and strive to maintain himself, and earn his own living. He soon became a staunch youth, developing an excellent constitution, and accustomed himself to the severe labor in subduing the primeval forests of the Berkshire Hills, and laying the stone fences which are a familiar feature even now in New England. At this time he took a decided stand on the temperance question, and though it was the custom in those early days for all to partake of spiritous liquors he saw and appreciated the attendant evils of those habits, and formed a firm resolve to refuse all such beverages. He married Sarah Maria Rood on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27, 1834.

Soon after marriage he began to wish for wider fields to conquer, and removed to Binghamton, Broom County, N. Y. State, in 1836. But he found the clearing of the land very laborious and rather discouraging. Then with a company of relatives and neighbors, he concluded to emigrate to the West. My two uncles, mother's brothers--Levi F. Rood and Launcelott Rood--had been prospecting, and decided that the Fox River Valley, Ill., was a desirable location. There was the beautiful river and picturesque landscape and continuous prairie land, suitable for cultivation, without the great labor of clearing the forest trees. It was at the close of the Black Hawk War, and the Indians had just left the country, but had burned nearly all the forest trees. One house had already been built, but father soon built another, making it as comfortable as possible. The hardships they underwent were indeed great. No fences, no bridges, no railroads, telegraphs, or telephones, or mail delivery, as we have at the present day. Chicago was a small frontier town, a few buildings built near

Fort Dearborn. But it afforded a market for the produce raised upon the farms of Northern Illinois. I remember well my father driving sixty miles to Chicago with his grain. It required four days to go and return. He would bring the groceries and dry goods supplies for the family. No obstacles would deter him. Stormy weather or bad roads, and we always knew father would return about sunset of the fourth day, bringing needed supplies. Father purchased his farm in 1836. And with the exception of seven years that he resided in Sandwich, Ill., while my brother-in-law took charge of the farm, he lived continuously there. Mother's health failed, and they returned to the old home to spend their remaining days. He lived a quiet and methodical life, abstemious in his diet, with long daily walks, reading the daily papers, and was always interested in the politics of the day, and the general public welfare of the country; an upright citizen, honorable in all his dealings with his fellow men. He had almost uninterrupted good health, until the last year of his life, when he died of pneumonia at the advanced age of 98 years and 2 months.

Note.--This, and the following sketch of Sarah Maria Rood Smith, were written by Mrs. Amelia J. Beebe, their eldest daughter, one year before her death.

Mrs. Sarah Maria Rood Smith was born Sept. 11, 1812, in the town of Sandisfield, Mass. She was a bright, vivacious rosycheeked girl. She was educated in the schools of the town and at Westfield Academy, Mass., which was under the care of the Rev. Dr. Davis, a famous educator in those days. She showed unusual aptitude in her studies, so that she soon became a teacher, and taught five seasons before her marriage, which occurred on Nov. 27, 1834, at Sandisfield, Mass. She was a most diligent and thorough housekeeper, and most devoted to her family. She endured with great fortitude the hardships of frontier life, and was most sacrificing in her efforts for the good of others. Mr. and Mrs. Smith celebrated their golden wedding in 1884, which was attended by a large assembly of people. Her closing years were marked by suffering and great debility. She passed away Jan. 23, 1890. Aged 77 years, 4 months and 12 days.

b. at Sandisfield, Mass., Oct. 31, 1806; m. Lydia Lavina Rood of Sandisfield, at Mission Township, Ill. (later called Sheridan), March 15, 1836. She was a sister of Mrs. William Smith, in other words, they married sisters. They remained in Illinois but a short time, as both were homesick and they yearned for the rugged scenery of their youth and settled in Konkopot, then a part of Canaan, Conn., but later of New Marlborough, Mass., on a small farm of productive soil, where they lived in contentment the rest of their lives. She passed away Jan. 31, 1864, and he April 27, 1881, aged 75 years. They had no issue. James Rood, her father, b. Aug. 4, 1772; d. March 30, 1849, aged 76 years, 6 months, 26 days. CORRIN7 SMITH, son of Uriel6 Smith, Esq., and Sophronia (Church) Smith (Uriel,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. Sept. 22, 1820, at Sandisfield, Mass. His boyhood was passed in working on his father's farm and attending school. At the age of 16 years he was appointed to teach a district school in the southern part of that town, known as the Person's District, in which he succeeded so well that he concluded to make that his profession. He taught many schools in that and adjoining towns, and in Columbia Co., N. Y., the last one being in New Lebanon, N. Y. In his earlier life he passed the summers at home, helping in the farm work. He was handicapped most of his life with poor health, due to an injury in his early boyhood, and from which he never recovered. About 1845 he entered the employ of Tilden & Co., of New Lebanon, N. Y., when he took charge of their general store. While there he was appointed Town Clerk. About this time he married Martha Hull, of a prominent and influential family of New Lebanon. He died there March 5, 1851, in his 31st year, and though he has been dead 61 years, he is still remembered by the old people there, who say of him that "he was a public spirited man and a power in the community." He had tactful and winning ways. He was a fluent speaker, and took a leading part in a local debating society. He also took an active part in organizing a local lodge of Odd Fellows. A surviving friend says, "he knows of no funeral as large and well attended as that of Corrin Smith." Albert Hull, a surviving son of the late ex-Governor Hull of Sandisfield, who was an intimate friend and school companion of his in their boyhood, says of him, "Had Corrin Smith lived and had good health, he would surely have made his mark in the world, as he had seldom ever known a man of as fine mental ability." His widow, Martha, married Milton Smith, of North Colebrook, Conn. He and Corrin Smith were second cousins and friends. They had one son and two daughters.

For the family of Milton Smith and wife, Martha, see in another part of this genealogy.

b. March 12, 1824, at Sandisfield, Mass.; d. Aug. 31, 1891, at Smith, Nevada. His education was received in the public schools of Sandisfield. After leaving home he was engaged in teaching school and other pursuits, but was soon overtaken by the California fever and in 1850 sailed by the way of the Isthmus to the land of gold. His success in the mines warranted his return to the East in the winter of 1852 to purchase cattle to be driven across the plains to California. This he did in the spring of 1853, as described in the biography of his brother, Timothy. After arriving in California in September of that same year, he located on the San Joaquin River, about thirty miles from Stockton, and followed stock raising until the year 1859, when he was joined by his brother, Timothy, Stratton and others, and drove their cattle over the Sierras to

Walker River, to a valley they named Smith Valley. Here he followed ranching and stock raising up to the time of his death. He was fond of reading, a man of great industry, sterling worth and ready wit. He died, Aug. 31, 1891, at his home, and is buried beside his two children in Smith Valley. He m. in 1882, Miss Kate Sweetman, of England.

His children were:

Meacham and family, about Sept. 9th of that year. She died of scrofulous consumption. She was unm., and 23 years, 4 months and 9 days old. She was short of stature; had darkbrown hair and gray eyes. She was always actuated by the best of motives, and was of a deep religious nature. She was buried at White Hall, N. Y.

TIMOTHY BABCOCK7 SMITH

TIMOTHY BABCOCK7 SMITH, son of Uriel6 Smith, Esq., and Sophronia Church Smith (Uriel,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. April 2, 1834, at Sandisfield, Mass. He is of the 8th generation from Thomas Rogers of the Mayflower, Timothy8 Babcock, Uriel,7 Uriel,6 Solomon,5 Hannah4 Smith, n,e Rogers, John3 Rogers, Lieut. Joseph2 Rogers, Thomasl Rogers. And the 8th from Stephen Hopkins, also of the Mayflower, Timothy8 Babcock, Uriel,7 Uriel,6 Susanna5 Smith, n,e Snow, Benjamin4 Snow, Lieut. Joseph3 Snow, Constance2 Snow, n,e Hopkins, Stephen1 Hopkins.

Timothy Babcock Smith was born in Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, on April 2, 1834, seventh son of Uriel (2nd) and Sophronia Church Smith.

His boyhood days were spent on his father's farm, doing the chores allotted to all New England farm boys.

Timothy attended the country school--when in session--until he was 16 years of age, when he went to Bristol, Conn., to learn the art of rule making, where he remained for one year.

Not finding this to his liking he secured the position with Tilden & Co., in New Lebanon, which had been left vacant by the death of his brother Corrin.

This proved satisfactory to both the lad and his employers and his life's calling seemed settled, but the unthought of came in an enticing offer to view the land of gold from his brother Cyrus, who had just returned from California to purchase a drove of cattle to be driven west across the plains. Cyrus and Chandler Stratton, also of Sandisfield, Mass., offered Timothy the chance to return with them, which he gladly accepted.

The latter part of March, 1853, found them on their way, traveling by rail to Cleveland, Ohio, thence to Cincinnati, by boat down the Ohio River, and up the Mississippi River to St.

Louis, where the supplies of flour, beans, bacon, hard bread, molasses, coffee, salt and vinegar were purchased.

From there by boat to Quincy, Ill., which was their headquarters while buying the cattle, mostly from Adams and Hancock counties. Besides the cattle they purchased five saddle horses, twelve head of oxen and two wagons.

Five other young men joined them here, glad of the opportunity to work their way to California.

They crossed the Mississippi by ferry to Alexandria, N. E. Mo., then westward to Missouri River, crossing at Council Bluffs. The ferries were so congested they were obliged to wait several days for their turn to cross.

One day while returning from the ferries where Timothy had been making arrangements for their crossing, he was ordered to stop and deliver by two mounted men. Not caring to discuss the matter with them he fled as fast as his horse could go. Having a better mount than they, he made good his escape to the nearest emigrant camp.

Leaving the Missouri they soon ferried the Elk Horn and traveled nearly four hundred miles along the Platte River, a stretch without a tree to break the monotony of the scene, or to furnish wood for fires. It was necessary to use buffalo chips and weeds for cooking.

While going up the Platte route Timothy had a severe attack of lung fever, brought on by the many drenchings received passing through the Iowa country. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Morey, who had some homeopathic remedies, he was better in about five weeks. In this section were many herds of buffalo, sometimes roaming quietly, sometimes running with their peculiar short lope. These were killed in sufficient numbers to supply fresh meat. Constant vigilance had to be kept over teams and cattle lest they stampede with these running masses. Fortunately the distant rumble heard for miles always warned of their approach.

Several bands of Indians were also seen, but no trouble ensued and they passed unmolested.

In crossing from the Platte to Salt Lake, they had the misfortune one dark night to lose their saddle horses, either by Indians or white thieves. After waiting in rain for several days for some trace of the horses, they were obliged to drive the cattle on foot the rest of the eight hundred or more miles. On the way from Salt Lake to the Sierras they were ten days without flour, and lived on beans and buffalo meat, secured on the plains. They crossed the Sierras by the pass then known as "Johnson Cut-off," past Lake Tahoe to Placerville and from there to Stockton, a journey of six months from Massachusetts. At Stockton Timothy left the train and went to Placer County to try his luck in the mines. Here he met and entered partnership with Philip Armour--afterwards of Chicago--who had some partially worked mining claims. At the expiration of two years he sold the mines and bought an interest in the stock with Cyrus and Stratton on the San Joaquin river.

Owing to the dry winter of 1858-59 and shortage of feed it was necessary to seek new pastures.

Some emigrants brought reports of abundance of grass on Walker river, then Utah, now Nevada. So in July, 1859, the cattle were driven back across the Sierras, a distance of about two hundred miles, to Walker river in Antelope Valley. Later in the season they drove further down the river to the fertile and pretty little valley, which they named "Smith Valley," owing to the "Smiths" being in the majority. Many and thrilling were the hardships of the pioneer days in this Indian country.

For several years the nearest post-office and store was Genoa, a distance of forty miles and each letter cost twenty-five cents.

In 1860 he located, and some years later purchased from the government, a ranch on Walker river in this valley, where he raised stock and conducted a very successful dairy business.

In 1867, at Sweetwater, he was married to Miss Margaret Nichol of Galt, Canada. On this ranch three children were born: Dwight Timothy, James Uriel and Margaret Sophronia.

In 1864 he was elected the second justice of the peace in Esmeraldo County. In 1874 elected commissioner of the county, and re-elected after a four-year term, for another term of two years.

In 1871 he planted the first alfalfa in that section of the State.

In 1897 he sold his entire interests in Nevada and moved to his present home in Berkeley, California, February, 1912.

DWIGHT7 SMITH (Dr.), son of Uriel8 Smith, Esq., and Sophronia (Church) Smith,

b. March 13, 1838, at Sandisfield, Mass. He attended the district school of his neighborhood, but spent most of his time working on his father's farm, which consisted in milking and attending the dairy, chopping wood, making maple sugar, laying stone fences, ploughing, making hay, etc. At that time no machinery was used and all farm work was done by hand. He remembers when all cooking was done over fireplaces; but soon cooking stoves came into use. He distinctly remembers when the first matches were introduced into that town. Prior to that time fire was preserved from day to day, by covering the live coals in ashes before the family retired for the night. When 15 years and 4 months old he left home to try to make his own living. He worked on farms in the summer time and attended school in the winter, doing chores for his board. He attended the Norfolk, Conn., Academy for a time, living most of the time with the widow of Judge Pettibone, known as Aunt "Sukee." He soon began teaching district schools, at which he was a success, with what had previously been unmanageable schools. After two winters of this experience, he went to Baltimore Co., Maryland, where he taught for two years at the early part of the war. At that time, his father having passed away (1863), he was called home to Sandisfield to assist his mother in looking after her interest in the estate of her deceased husband. He was urged by the Drs. Welch of Norfolk, Conn., to study for a physician, as they said "nature had made him for that profession," but instead he began the study of dentistry, with Dr. R. B. Curtiss, of Winsted, Conn. Later he attended lectures at the New York College of Dentistry, but later graduated at the Baltimore Dental College. He

that profession in the fashionable parts of New York City for over 40 years, and retired in 1906. He m. Mary Ella Davidson, of 82 Madison Ave., N. Y. C., Nov. 29, 1881. She was the daut. of Chas. M. and Ellen L. Davidson. She b. Aug. 25, 1847, at Brooklyn, N. Y. They have been living at Portchester, N. Y., since 1897. He is as active as ever, in spite of his 74 years.

b. May 22, 1840. He worked on the farm at home and attended the district school; but when but 14 years of age he was obliged to leave home and try to earn his living. He, like his other brothers, worked on farms in the summer and attended school in the winter time, until he had obtained sufficient education to teach school. He taught in Baltimore Co., Md., for two years. In 1863 he joined his brothers, Cyrus and Timothy, at Smith, Nevada, where he engaged in stock-raising and ranching. About 1900 he retired from active work and went to live with his brother Timothy B., and family at Berkeley, Cal. At times he has suffered greatly with rheumatism, and later with dropsey; but is of late quite well. He is quite a reader of daily papers and historical books. Is well informed and a highly conscientious man, and beloved by all who know him.

JEROME7 SMITH, the youngest son of Amariah6 and Lucy (Phelps) Smith, was his father's chief hope and expectation, and his death, May 26, 1848, at the age of 17 years was a blow to which he never fully recovered, though he did not pass away until March 24, 1858, at the age of 72 years. Lucy, his widow, lived to the advanced age of 87 years. She passed her last days with her daughter, Mrs. Augustine Hamilton, at her old homestead at Sandisfield.

The writer remembers Jerome Smith and that he was very much liked by all his young acquaintances. He also attended his funeral, which was a sad occasion, though the writer was but ten years old at the time. He also distinctly remembers Amariah Smith, as being a fine man, and also all of his generation. Page 100

Milton7 Smith, son of Sylvester6 and Laura (Cowles) Smith (Dr. Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1). He of the eighth generation from Thomas1 Rogers of the Mayflower (Milton,8 Sylvester,7 Dr. Amos,6 Solomon,5 Hannah4 Smith, n,e Rogers, John3 Rogers, Joseph2 Rogers, Thomas1 Rogers).

And the eighth generation from Stephenl Hopkins (Milton, 8 Sylvester, 7 Dr. Amos, 6 Susanna5 Smith, n, e Hopkins, Benjamin4 Snow, Lieut. Joseph3 Snow, Constance2 Snow, n, e Hopkins, Stephenl Hopkins).

MILTON7 SMITH, son of Sylvester6 and Laura (Cowles) Smith (Dr. Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1), b. March 16, 1818, at North Colebrook, Conn. He was the oldest son of Sylvester and Laura (Cowles) Smith. He had no early educational advantages except such as he could get from the District School at North Colebrook. He had, however, a very bright mind and was able by his own industry to acquire a very fair English education. It is the unanimous opinion of those who knew him that if he could have had the advantages of a liberal education he would have been a man of distinction in his native State.

Commencing when he was about eighteen years he began teaching school and taught for several winters in different places, one of which was West Nassau, N. Y. After the termination of his school teaching he married and settled on a farm at North Colebrook, where he lived during the remaining nineteen years of his life. During that nineteen years he was three times elected a member of the House of Representatives of Connecticut, was once Selectman of the town of Colebrook and once First Selectman. He served one term as one of the County Commissioners of Litchfield County. He also at some period of his life was a Lieutenant in the Connecticut State Militia and was for several years Postmaster at North Colebrook.

During the years of his public service he was an omniverous reader; he devoted much attention to the political affairs of the state and the nation and was gradually growing and expanding in all directions, making up, to some extent, for the lack of opportunities in his boyhood.

He died suddenly at the age of forty-five, when he was just beginning to be recognized as one of the leading men in that part of the state.

If he could have lived the number of years that many men of his race have lived, it is believed he would have been a man of considerable distinction in the state of Connecticut.

The writer knew him well. He was a fine type of a man, considerable more than six feet tall, and powerfully built, of great energy, enterprise and thrift. He was a farmer at Colebrook Center, where he wrung from the poor soil of that town quite a competency. He invested his savings in Kansas mortgages. He desired to go to that state, where he hoped to find a large field, and better return for his efforts; but felt it his duty to remain near his parents, who were advanced in years. Soon after they passed away he exchanged his farm at Colebrook Center for a place in the village of Flushing, L. I., N. Y., which he occupied with his family for but a few years, when he sold it and removed to Wichita, Kan. All his children went with him, but George Amos, who remained there, and is conducting successfully a stationary store, with accessories. Mr. William A. Smith's life was shortened by a bad fall while building a barn on his place at Kansas, and from which he never fully recovered. He passed away at the age of 69 years. He m. Harriet A. AMOS7 SMITH, son of Harvy6 and Maria Sacket Smith (Dr. Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. at Sandisfield, Mass., June 17, 1821; d. at Staten Island, N. Y., Jan. 7, 1891. He m. Jane Wilcox, at West Stockbridge, Mass., March 26, 1845. She b. at West Stockbridge, in 1822; d. March 20, 1862, at West Stockbridge. He was superintendent of iron mines, and was deeply interested in geology and minerology, and was for 24 years superintendent of the Hudson Iron Co.'s mines at West Stockbridge; also for a time at Clinton, Oneida Co., N. Y., and at Salsbury, Herkimer Page 104

Co. Later he went to Staten Island, where he operated a mine for 15 years. He was a conscientious and philanthropic man, and much esteemed. He passed away at the age of 70 years.

They had but one son and a daughter:

154 i. Theodore Edward, b. Sept. 6, 1849, at West Stockbridge, Mass. He resides at Staten Island, and has 6 children.

155 ii. Ella Frances, b. June 19, 1852, at West Stockbridge, Mass. Her residence is at Ridgefield Park, N. J., and has 3 children. Amos Smith was of the 7th generation from Ralph Smyth and the 8th generation from Thomas Rogers and Stephen Hopkins, two of the Mayfiower passengers.

LOYAL TIMOTHY7 SMITH, son of Harvy6 and Maria (Sacket) Smith (Dr. Amos,5 Solomon,4 James3, Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. Dec. 22, 1819, at Knex Co., Ohio. He was of the 8th generation from Thomas Rogers and Stephen Hopkins, two of the Mayflower passengers.

He, like his father and brother, Rev. John C. Smith, was a large and powerfully built man, six feet and one inch in height, and weighed more than 200 pounds. In his younger days was noted for his great feats of strength, of which in after years he was proud to relate. He had no early advantages of education, not having attended school more than ten days in his life. He had great energy and scrupulous honesty. When a young man, he went east to Sheffield, Mass., where he took charge of a manganese mine for Mr. Moses Spur, whose daut., Mary Lavina, he married, Nov. 18, 1843. She was born in Sheffield, April 6, 1816. He then moved to Albany, N. Y., where his seven children were all born. He then, and ever after worked as a cement contractor. He was most exemplary in all his habits, never drank, nor smoked, nor associated with those who did. He belonged to the Methodist persuasion, and possessed great religious fervor. He frequently went to hospitals, or homes where there was sickness and held religious services. Attracted by the discovery of gold in California, he started in 1859 to reach California by the way of the Isthmus, but no steamer was in readiness on the Pacific side; he was compelled to return to New York. He then made the voyage to California by way of the Straits of Magellan. He landed in San Francisco and went immediately to Sacramento, where he purchased a quarter block of land from N. R. Peck, a Methodist minister, and built on it. In 1861, his wife and three surviving children joined him. He worked faithfully at his trade, plastering and laying cement sidewalks, putting his savings in Sacramento property. He had confidence in the future of Sacramento, but did not live long enough to reap all the benefit of his sagacity and foresight. His devotion to the Methodist Church is evinced by the erection of the Kingsley Chapel, largely by means furnished by himself.

He was a man of wonderful energy and vitality and fine habits and self control. He passed away at Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 6, 1897, aged 78 years; and his wife, Mary Lovina, Jan. 8, 1900, aged 84 years.

REV. JOHN C.7 SMITH, son of Harvy6 and Maria (Sacket) Smith (Dr. Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. at St. Albans, Ohio, June 4, 1826; d. at Medway, Mass., April 18, 1890, aged 64 years; m. (1) Sarah F. Wright of Sheffield, Mass., a graduate of Young Ladies' Seminary at Pittsfield, Mass. She was a lady of much culture and refinement. She d. 1853-4, leaving an infant, Olean, who soon d., and a daut., Emily J., who d. of consumption at the age of 18 years. He m. (2) Mary E. Ladd, June, 1856. She b. in Bristol, N. H., 1836, and is now living at Whitneyville, Conn.

The following is one of many obituary notices taken from a local paper at the time of his decease:

SMITH.--Rev. John C. Smith was born in St. Albans, Ohio, June 4, 1826, and died at West Medway, Mass., April 18, 1890.

He was the son of Harvy and Maria Smith. On his father's side, it is understood, his antecedents were Universalist. His mother, however, was a godly woman and a communicant of the Baptist Church. Impressed while yet a child with a sense of his need of a Saviour, it was yet not until he was thirteen years old that the great question of his supreme allegiance to Christ was decisively settled. Powerfully converted in connection with a Baptist service, he was baptized by sprinkling, and joined the Methodist Church. Such, meanwhile, was his spiritual fervor, evangelistic zeal, and hortatory power, that when only sixteen he had received a license to preach. He made full proof of his ministry while yet in his teens. His home for several years had been in Sandisfield, Mass.; and in the vicinity of this place, within the limits of the N. Y. and N. Y. E. Conferences, this boy preacher had many extensive and powerful revivals of religion. He joined the N. E. Conference at Worcester in 1848, was ordained deacon at Chicopee in 1850, and elder in Boston in 1852.

At about this time he was married to Miss Sarah F. Wright, of Sheffield, a graduate of Pittsfield Young Ladies' Seminary, a lady of talent and culture, of great amiability and Christian devotion. This union proved a most congenial and happy one. Mrs. Smith died in 1854, leaving two children--an infant, who in a few months followed its mother to the grave, and a little girl of four years, who, at the interesting age of eighteen, fell a victim of consumption. Some three years later Mr. Smith was married to Mary E. Ladd, of North Andover, who now survives him. As the fruit of this marriage five children were born to him, one dying in infancy. Four, therefore--two sons and two daughters--are now left together, with the widowed companion and mother, to deplore the loss of this husband and father, so tenderly beloved.

The same tireless evangelistic zeal and revival successes which had marked Brother Smith's earlier years continued to attend him as a Conference itinerant. He lived to fill twenty-one appointments, many of which were leading ones, while all were important. What a record of prayer and consecrated toil! For many years Brother Smith had had serious trouble with his head, brought on, doubtless, by overwork. Something over a year ago he had an attack from the effects of which he fell unconscious. At the last session of the New England Conference he took a Page 109 supernumerary relation, and repaired to his home in West Medway. An intimate friend, observing that he looked wan and worn, said to him: "Well, Brother Smith, how does it seem to you to come home here at last, and, as a confessed invalid, be left without work?" With blending smiles and tears he said: "What a blessed comfort it is, isn't it, amidst all life's disappointments, to know that God reigns?" Such a testimony, under all the circumstances, speaks volumes for this veteran's tenderness toward, and faith in, God.

His end came suddenly. On the day of his death, after morning devotions, he had gone forth to engage in his usual avocations. Shortly after, he was discovered by his son lying by a wall, already in an unconscious condition. He was at once conveyed to the house, and every effort made to rouse him, but in vain. In the course of half an hour after he was found he had quietly ceased to breathe--ceasing thus, literally, at once "to work and live." His funeral was largely attended by preachers and people, when his remains were committed to the ground in the West Medway cemetery, in the confident hope of the final resurrection of the just.

Brother Smith was a man of commanding abilities, an able and eloquent preacher, an indefatigable, self-sacrificing worker, a man of simple, unaffected, yet earnest piety, large-hearted, noble, sympathetic, an honest hater of all shams and wrongs, but an ardent lover of Jesus Christ, his Saviour and Lord, a devoted friend of the church and of Methodism, a faithful, conscientious, consecrated minister, true to his friends and true to God--every inch a man.

Rev. John C.7 Smith and Mary E. Ladd Smith had the following five children:

i. Herbert W., d. young.
167 ii. Albert Loyal, b. Aug. 24, 1864, at Derby, N. H.
168 iii. Clara Elizabeth, b. (???), 1867, at Gloucester, Mass.
169 iv. Hellen Maria, b. (???), 1869.
170 v. Charles Ladd, b. (???), 1872.

IRA EUGENE7 SMITH, son of Harvy6 and Maria (Sacket) Smith (Dr. Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. June 9, 1829, at Granville, Ohio; d. Sept. 7, 1894, near Granite Station, Arizona, and buried there. He m. Nancy A. Cooper, at Clarindon, Calhoun Co., Mich., June 6, 1855. She b. Sept. 8, 1832, at Clarkson, Monroe Co., N. Y.; d. June 6, 1893, at the residence of her daut., Mrs. Ailman, at Los Angeles, Cal. He was buried at Rosedale Cemetery.

The following is a biographical sketch of Mr. Ira Eugene Smith, written by his daughter, Mrs. David E. Ailman of Long Beach, Cal.:

Mr. Ira Eugene7 Smith was born at Granville, Huron Co., Ohio., June 9, 1829. From his birth until six years old he had chills and fever and was a frail and delicate child up to his 12th year.

His mother taught him to read and write, and from a rather dull child, with improved health and strength he evinced a desire and aptitude to learn and acquire knowledge, which never forsook him for a moment in his entire life. As a child he was kind and tender-hearted toward all. All dumb beasts, even to the hens and chickens, were his pets, and he had not the heart to kill one of them. He had the sweet and loving disposition of a girl and was never happier than when doing good to others. He learned the trade of carpenter, at which he worked during the summer and attended school during the winter season. He studied law at Ann Arbor, Mich., and theology at the Methodist Church at Albian College, Mich. While supplying a pulpit in Homer, Mich., he met and married Miss Nancy Cooper. Soon after he was sent to Quincy, in same state, where he remained two years. He was a member of the Michigan Conference some five years. At the beginning of the Civil War he removed to St. Louis, Mo. He, in his younger days, had become a master mechanic and machinist, to which he had at times recourse in times of stress. He carried on building of houses in St. Louis and Chicago until the beginning of the Civil War, when he enlisted from Camp Butler, Ill., and served as a common soldier during the remainder of that terrible struggle, most of the time as a spy. At the conclusion of the war he went first to St. Louis, and then to Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas, contracting and building houses in growing towns along the railroads, as they pushed their way across the Continent. Later he went to New Mexico, and Arizona, and California. He spent three years in Old Mexico, and one year in the City of Mexico. He made a long trip of exploration across Mexico, down into Sierra Madre Mountains, his only companion being an Indian guide, meeting no one for many days but Indians. He returned safely, fully accomplishing his purpose, after which he went to Pinos Altas, New Mexico, where he served as Justice of the Peace for nine years, with great satisfaction to that mixed population, making the Mexicans "make up" and shake hands, and by whom he was called "Padre." Everyone was his friend, and he was looked upon as the best administrator they had ever had. He had large mining properties which he managed with success. His wife was born at Clarkson Corners, near Buffalo, N. Y. Her father was David Cooper, and her mother Deborah Chriswell, both of English ancestry, and early settlers in New York State. She was well educated and easily adapted herself to all conditions. She died suddenly of heart disease at the age of 61 years, on her 38th wedding anniversary. Her husband survived her but little more than one year.

Rex J. Dowd Victim of Heart Failure.--Founder and Head of R. J. Dowd Knife Works passes away after ten days illness. Identified with the city activities for over thirty years and one of most beloved citizens.

Beloit citizens were shocked when it became known on the street this noon that Rex J. Dowd, founder and head of the R. J. Dowd Knife Works, and one of the city's most esteemed men, had passed away at 10.55 a. m. of heart failure, following a ten days' illness.

Mr. Dowd returned three weeks ago from a three months' trip to visit relatives on the Pacific Coast and was apparently in as good health as he had been for several years. A sudden cold, however, confined him to his home and he failed from day to day until the end came this morning.

The news of his death came as a special shock to friends who did not know of his illness and who had seen and talked with him since his return from the West.

NATIVE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Mr. Dowd was a native of Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Mass. He was born Oct. 24, 1833, to Jared B. and Sally (Smith) Dowd, both of whose families were of English origin, settling in New England in early colonial days. The first representative of his father's family in this country was Henry Dowd, who emigrated from England in 1639 and settled at Guilford, Conn., where some of his descendants still reside. Later members of his family moved to Berkshire County, Mass., where R. J. Dowd's father was engaged as a farmer. His maternal grandfather, Dr. Amos Smith, was a surgeon in the Revolutionary Army and a man prominent in his profession.

Mr. Dowd passed his boyhood days at home, receiving a common school education in his native town. Later he supplemented this with a course of study in the English branches, Algebra and bookkeeping, at the Connecticut Literary Institute in Suffield. After finishing his studies there, he worked for a time on a farm, but in November, 1851, he went to Lee, Mass., and learned his trade, that of making edged tools, and machine knives in all the various branches, finally acquiring an interest in the business.

COMES TO BELOIT IN 1877.

In 1877 Mr. Dowd came West with the idea of establishing a plant for himself in Beloit. The time was most opportune and the business started in a small shop at that time has grown many fold, until it ranks as one of the leading establishments in the country making machine knives. Beginning in a modest way, Mr. Dowd by faithful, persistent and conscientious work, fair and honorable dealing and unfaltering purpose to succeed, made for himself and his establishment a reputation of which any man might be proud. He was one of the rare type of artisans who took pride even in the last few years in going into the shop and working at the anvil side by side with the blacksmith in his employ, doing his share of the actual work.

While the exacting demands of business engaged Mr. Dowd's chief attention, he still found time to devote to public interests, and was one of Beloit's most valued advisers along progressive lines. He served as President of the Beloit Savings Bank, of which he was one of the incorporators, and for more than twenty years was one of its trustees. He was also, for more than ten years, President of the Beloit Water Power Co.

PERSONAL FRIEND OF LA FOLLETTE.

In politics Mr. Dowd was always a Republican, in later years being ranked as a progressive. He was a personal friend of Senator La Follette and a loyal supporter of his policies. He was never aggressive, however, along political lines, and did not seek or hold any political office.

In religious faith he early affiliated himself with the Second Congregational Church, of which he was a deacon at the time of his death.

On March 9, 1857, Mr. Dowd was united in marriage with Miss Sarah A. Kelsey of Lee, Mass., who died Feb. 5, 1905. His two sons, Glenville A. and Alderman Robert I. Dowd, have for years been associated with him in the manufacturing business which he founded.

Funeral services will be held from the house Monday afternoon, at 2.30. Friends are kindly requested to omit flowers.

NOBLE LIFE IS ENDED.

Beloit mourns to-day the death of one of her most noble citizens, Rex J. Dowd, founder of the Dowd Knife Works and for many years President of the Savings Bank and Beloit Water Power Co., was a man of the highest integrity in commercial life and personally most lovable. He has been a force for good in the community which has known him for over thirty years, and his example of industry, high purpose and steadfast principle is one that may well be emulated by every one. He was one of Nature's noblemen.

IRA AMOS7 SMITH, (REV.), son of Ira6 and Lovina (Hubbard) Smith (Dr. Amos,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. Dec. 19, 1840, at Sandisfield, Mass.; d. at Holden, Me., Oct. 14, 1906, of nephritis; buried at Pine Grove Cemetery, at Holden; m. Sarah S. Cook, Jan. 14, 1869, at Mantone, R. I. She of Milford, Mass. She b. July 17, 1842.

The writer knew Rev. Ira Smith when a boy, and can add nothing to the following accounts of him, published in the two following papers. A beautiful tribute to the memory of a noble man.

From the Connecticut Evangelist. REV. IRA A. SMITH.

The Rev. Ira A. Smith, pastor of the Congregational churches of Holden and Dedham, Me., died at the Holden Parsonage, Sunday, October 14, 1906, of valvular heart disease, nephritis complicating.

Mr. Smith was born in Sandisfield, Mass., in 1840; son of Ira and Lovina Smith; and grandson of a once most famous physician and orator of Connecticut.

He received his early education at the New Marlboro and Monson Academies, graduating from Westfield Normal School in the class of 1864. He was for some time principal of Ware, Mass., High School.

He married Sarah Sumner Cooke, of Milford, then an American M. A. teacher in Macon, Ga., for the American Missionary Association.

It was ever his desire to preach; and when he had earned sufficient means, he continued his studies in Theology and was licensed to preach in 1880 and ordained on September 27, 1882, by Congregational Council.

His first pastorate was at South Dartmouth, Mass., where he was installed in 1882. Later he became the pastor of Erving, Charlemont, Scotland, Mass., and Holden and Dedham, Me., Churches.

The churches while under his charge have been especially harmonious and growing. During his pastorate in Me., the church at Holden has been remodeled, the new chapel furnished, and thirteen united with the church the past year.

He has always been a successful and much beloved pastor. Not only the fact that he was a man of God endeared him to his people, but the unusual strength and beauty of his character and genial manner won the love of all he met. Those who listened to his sermons were impressed immediately by their simplicity and earnestness.

He was an enthusiastic temperance worker, and contributed several articles on this subject for print.

The funeral was held at the Holden Congregational Church Tuesday p. m., the casket being carried from the parsonage to the church by relays of twelve parishioners. The invocation was given and the benediction pronounced by the Rev. John S. Sewall, selections of scripture were read by Prof. E. B. Denis. The address by Rev. David N. Beach, D. D., president of Bangor Theological Seminary, was very simple and impressive.

The burial services were at the Pine Grove Cemetery, Milford, Mass., Thursday p. m., and were conducted by the Rev. Frank A. Warfield.

He leaves besides his wife two sons: Weld Ira, of Waltham, Mass.; Dexter Southward, a student at the University of Maine; one daughter, Fannie Aiken, a student at Castine Normal.

FANNIE A. SMITH.

From the Maine Missionary. IN MEMORIAM.

It was with deep regret that the friends of the Rev. Ira A. Smith heard of his death, which occurred on Sunday, Oct. 14th. At the time Mr. Smith was pastor of the churches at Holden and Dedham, which he was serving with singular acceptance and fidelity. "It seemed as if he was preaching better sermons all the time," said one of his parishioners, speaking of him after he had gone. The very last report submitted by him to the Maine Missionary Society told of additions to the church and of many others almost ready to come. It was all "hand-picked fruit."

We have been asked by the Holden church to print the following series of resolutions, passed by different organizations, and gladly do so, as they but fitly express the man and the esteem in which he was held. The society joins with these friends in their expressions of sympathy with the bereaved family.

The Congregational Church of Holden adopted the following minute and placed it on record Nov. 11, 1906:

As a church we wish to attest our deep appreciation of the faithfulness and high character of our late pastor, Reverend Ira A. Smith.

Humbly, yet grandly, has he walked among his people, pointing them ever upward to the Source of all light and truth.

He lived not to himself, but to Christ; and through his tender ministrations many were brought to the Saviour, among whom were his own daughter and younger son.

Mr. Smith was an earnest advocate of temperance and every good reform.

He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory here, for his words of comfort and power, of peace and warning, of promise and hope will long live in the hearts of this people.

We sorrow for the loss of our beloved pastor, but sadder still is the anguish of her who laments the departure of an ever considerate and affectionate husband, and of those who weep because their loving father is no longer with them to guide, and cheer, and bless.

By one and all Rev. Ira A. Smith was pronounced that "noblest work of God," a good man.

From the Maine Missionary.

Minute adopted Nov. 5, 1906, by the Ministers' Conference of Bangor, Me., concerning the death, Oct. 14, of the Rev. IRA A. SMITH, minister of the churches at Holden and Dedham:

The Rev. Ira A. Smith, during the years of his pastorate at Holden and Dedham, has been constant in his attendance at conferences, councils and other special religious gatherings in this neighborhood, and has been a faithful and interested member of this conference.

While bearing thus his part in the fellowship and joint work of our churches, he has been an unusually faithful and successful pastor, diligent and effective in parish work; strong and sweet and winning in the pulpit; one who has endeared himself to all who knew him, and whose presence in our meetings has always been an inspiration.

While we know that only his churches and his dearest ones realize at all adequately the preciousness and value of his life, we of this conference have been profoundly impressed by his personality and by the quality of his work.

It was given to Mr. Smith to love much. It was given to him to lead a singularly guileless, beautiful, tender and yet strong and virile Christian life. It was given to him to exemplify in a rare degree the best qualities of the ministry of Jesus Christ, as a preacher, as a student of the Word, as a pastor, and as a public spirited, true citizen.

Why, while still in the prime of his power and at the height of his usefulness, he should have been removed from the wide circle that loved him, and from his important work, is one of the mysteries which, as the Saviour said, "we know not now." But we do know that he was already a citizen of Heaven; that with joy he greeted it from afar, and, like Greatheart, was ready and exultant to depart; and that he now sees his Saviour's face, that his Saviour's name is in his forehead, and that he is already engaged in the ceaseless, unwearying and infinite service of the skies.

We place this minute on the records and furnish a copy of it to the press, to the churches which he served and to his family, in token of our appreciation of the man, of our love for him and of our sympathy with his household and with his sorely bereft churches. May all heavenly consolations and benedictions be theirs.

A true copy.

Burnette, Jr., and Elizabeth Nash De Costa Burnette. Edmond Ruel Smith, son of Ruel Smith and Celestia (Mills) Smith, b. in New York City, Feb. 2, 1829. He was educated in Geneva, Switzerland, and in Georgetown College, and entered the Sheffield Scientific School in the second year of its establishment as an adjunct of Yale College, but before completing his course he was appointed to the scientific corps of the U.S. Naval Astronomical Expedition to Chili, under Commander Gills. As he lacked but five weeks of graduating, his diploma was forwarded to him at Chili. After completing his work there he visited the noted Araucanian Indians, an account of which was published by the Harpers in 1855, and for many years was considered a standard work on those remarkable people, and was often quoted. The illustrations were by his own hand. He was the author of "The Fall of Graytown," the prize poem of the New York Evening Post in 1854, and signed Walter Wildrake. Also "The Cobweb Cottage Letters" in N. P. Willis' Home Journal, which created quite a sensation at the time. He always took a leading part in the literary circles of Skaneateles, giving lectures, writing plays and acting in same; was equally fluent in verse and prose. He was an ardent lover of nature, which he painted in the most charming and effective manner. The writer met him but a few months before his death, and found him spry and agile and far from being old in looks, and possessing a very active mind, undimmed by age; a dignified and courtly gentleman, and the looks of one who had been a student all his life; a genial look and manner that would attach to him friends among the old and the young. He possessed uniformly good health and strength to nearly the last, when he passed away tranquilly and easily. Thus passed away a highly gifted man. He was by profession an artist and studied in Rome and

Dusseldorf. He was a member of Skaneateles Board of Education and instructor in Ancient and Modern Languages, Chemistry and Geology, Numismatics and Arch'ological, Folklore and Bergelin Societies, Church and Salmagundi Clubs, Society for the Advancement of Science, and Sons of the Revolution.

AMELIA J.8 SMITH, daut. of William7 and Sarah Maria (Rood) Smith (Solomon,6 Solomon,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. Jan. 2, 1836, at Binghamton, N. Y.; d. April 22, 1911, on the ocean, returning from a trip to Egypt and the Holy Land, with her sister, Lucy A. Beebe. She m. George T. Beebe, Dec. 10, 1859, at Newark, Ills. He b. Sept. 10, 1836, at Sullivan, Madison Co., N. Y.; d. Jan. 9, 1879, at Chicago. They were living in their own home on the North Side of Chicago at the time of the great fire, which destroyed their pleasant home, and the City of Chicago. Though the writer had never met Mrs. Amelia J. Beebe, he had much correspondence with her in gathering the data of the descendants of Solomon6 Smith and Deborah (Kibbie) Smith, her fourth progenitor through her father, William Smith; and had conceived a very warm friendship for her, and at her passing way, he felt he had lost a dear friend. She and her husband, Geo. T. Beebe, spent many pleasant years in Chicago where there were two sons born to them. The following obituary notice is taken from a paper published by her church society:

MRS. AMELIA J. BEEBE.

Chicago, April 22, 1911.

Sad news for many in our church came by wireless from the ship Cedric to New York last Saturday, the 22d. The message bore the news of the death at sea that morning of Mrs. Amelia Beebe, a member of Union Park Church since 1883. In company with her sister (Mrs. Lucy Beebe), she had almost reached the homeland after a tour which included visits to Egypt, Palestine and other Mediterranean countries. She took a severe cold passing the Bay of Biscay, on the way to Liverpool homeward. Acute bronchitis followed and at the same time there appeared alarming heart symptoms.

Mrs. Beebe was born in Binghamton, N. Y., seventy-five years ago, and had lived in Illinois for the most of her life, the family home being at Sheridan. She survived her husband thirty years. Her beautiful face and winsome personality will be greatly missed from the Benevolent Society and the Study Class. Funeral services were conducted by the pastor at the city residence, 2006 Warren avenue, Thursday, at 1.30 p. m. Their children were:

- i. William Smith, b. July 10, 1860, at Newark, Ills.; m. Mary Saunders, Oct. 6, 1880; d. March 9, 1894. She d. Jan. 23, 1881.

Soon the public school was established and attended it until entering an academy in California. Some time after entered the university of that state and graduated in the course in mining engineering. Took post-graduate course in geology. Was employed for a few months by a prospective sugar company of California, to be in search of mineral for refining. Then was field assistant for the U. S. Government in mapping geologically a portion of three counties on the Bay of San Francisco. Had charge of the development of three mines situated in the Siskiyou Mountains between California and Oregon, after which was with an exploration and engineering company that examines for valuation and development of mining property. Since has been in charge of the University Extension for the State of Nevada.

He is the 8th generation from Ralph Smyth: Dwight T.,8 Timothy B,7 Uriel,6 Uriel,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph,1 and the 9th generation from Thomas Rogers and Stephen Hopkins.

JAMES URIEL8 SMITH, son of Timothy Babcock7 Smith and Margaret (Nichol) Smith (Uriel,6 Uriel,5 Solomon,4 James,3 Daniel,2 Ralph1),

b. Sept. 6, 1871, at Smith, Nevada. He spent his boyhood on his father's ranch when not attending the local school. The main activities of this ranch was raising hay, cattle, horses, and making butter. In September, 1889, he entered Loyal Hall College, a military school for boys, near San Mateo, Cal. In 1890 he entered the University of California, where he graduated with the class of 1894 from the College of Machanica, receiving the degree of P. S. In Japuary, 195, he graduated a

Mechanics, receiving the degree of B. S. In January, '95, he secured a position of instructor of physics and mathematics in the high school at Hayward, Cal. Graduates of his classes were accredited to enter the University of California, without examination in the maximum number of subjects in his line of work. He married Anna Bergen of Berkeley, June 25, 1895. She b. at Petersburg, Ill. On May 22, 1898, they had a son, Uriel, b. at Hayward. They had a daut. born in 1906, who died in a few days. In 1899 he received the degree of M. S. from the University of California in Mathematics. In Oct., 1901, he entered the Testing Department of the General Electric Co. at Schenectady, N. Y., where he remained two years, when he returned to California and entered the Drafting Department of the Union Iron Works of San Francisco, where he laid out the main switch-boards, remodeled the lighting and power feeders for the electric equipment, and aid out the entire communicating system of the cruisers California and South Dakota, which were under construction at those works. He later obtained a position in the Drafting Department of the present Pacific Gas and Electric Co., which now feeds a territory larger in extent than all New England. He is now the main electrical draftsman of the Company. For the last six months he has had the entire charge of the drafting room, during the illness of the chief draftsman.

They have but one child, a son:

i. Uriel, b. May 22, 1898, at Berkeley. ii. An infant, b. and d. in 1906.

was b. at Colebrook, Connecticut, March 1, 1846. He had the advantages of the District Schools in Colebrook and attended one term at a select school at Colebrook Center, taught by Miss Wright. At the age of sixteen he commenced attendance in the Connecticut Literary Institution of Suffield, Connecticut. He continued as a student at that institution until September 14, 1864, when in company with several classmates he enlisted in the army. He became a member of Company F., Second Connecticut Heavy Artillery, and was wounded at the Battle of Cedar Creek, October 19, 1864, a month and five days after leaving the school. At the close of his army services he went back to the institution and became a member of the class of 1866 and graduated as the valedictorian of his class. He entered Yale College in the class of 1870. Some trouble with his eyes caused him to leave Yale College before graduating and after the recovery therefrom he studied law in the office of Brown & Stone at Warren, Pennsylvania, and was admitted to the bar in November, 1869. After practicing about two years at Warren, Pa., he was married to Mary Clemons, and with her removed to Madison, Wisconsin, where he was admitted to the bar and where he has ever since practiced. He is a member of several benevolent societies and has been a Drainage Commissioner, has been a Court Commissioner for nearly thirty years continually, has been City Attorney of the City of Madison, Wisconsin, for four terms and has been a member of several law partnerships. What is thought of him may be gathered from the following extract from the Wisconsin State Journal of Madison, Wisconsin, in its issue of March 1, 1911:

HIS BIRTHDAY TO-DAY.

From the "culchawed" East, but far too cultured himself to let any one suspect it, is Rufus B. Smith, who took his first peep at life in Colebrook, Conn., March 1, 1846. He received his education in the East and ran away from a "prep" school to enlist for service the last year of the Civil War in Company F., Second Connecticut Heavy Artillery--"and I had to lie about my age mightily to do it," adds Mr. Smith. He returned after the war and entered Yale, being a member of the class of 1870-rah, rah ??

He studied law in an office at Warren, Pa., and while there married Miss Mary Clemons. They came to Madison Sept. 24, 1871, and Mr. Smith immediately opened an office and began practicing law. He is one of the best known and most familiar figures among the members of his profession about town. He is a member of a number of benevolent organizations. Perhaps the most fitting description of his standing both in his profession and about the city may be found in a remark made by Senator Robert M. La Follette, "Rufus Smith has the most judicial mind of any member of the Madison Bar Association."

The following is an obituary of him, taken from the Owego Times, April 13, 1911:

Friend G. Newell died this morning at Schenectady, aged 62 years. He was a son of the late Gilbert Newell, and for many years was prominent in the church and business affairs of this village. He was a member of the village Board of Education for several years and superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School for a long time.

He was for years the leading cabinet-maker in this village, and seldom or never did he fail to work wonders with repairs and renovations which he made in antique furniture. He was a man of most excellent reputation, and his probity was recognized by all. His health failed a few years ago, necessitating his retirement from active pursuits, and for a year or two he and Mrs.

Newell had resided in Schenectady. His death will be deplored by his numerous friends in this village.

He married Miss Ella Smith, daughter of the late George W. Smith, of this village, and she survives him, as do two children, Mrs. Louis D. Vail, of Scranton, and Charles Newell, of Schenectady; two brothers, Orville L. Newell and Frank W. Newell, of this village, and one sister, Mrs. H. G. Crane, of Minneapolis, Minn. The body will be brought to this village to-morrow, and the funeral will be held at the Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

They had two children:

Clara A., b. March 2, 1870, at Owego; m. Louis D. i. Vail, Nov. 19, 1904; he b. at Locust Valley, N. Y. Residence, Scranton, Pa. ii.
